THE SUEZ CANAL SHARES. Ever since Mr. Frederick Greenwood's friend

entertained him last year at that notable banquet a controversy, more or less active, has raged round the history of Disraeli's great coup a purchasing for England the Khedive's share the Suez Canal. But the debate between Mesers, Oppenheim, Wolf, and Greenwood turn ed after all on a sery limited corner of the subject—the question of whose brain it was which first conceived the daring scheme that Disraeli made his own. Most of us, after read ing correspondence as it straggled for months through the files of 'Tue Times," have been satisfied to retain the traditional belief. The news which was the basis of the whole coup same to London through Mr. Oppenheim, but the idea of acting on it was certainly Mr. Green wood's, or rather, perhaps, we should say that it was Mr. Greenwood who had the psychological neight to see that the notion had only to be presented to Disraeli in order to captivate him. He adopted it for the same reason that he dressed in his youth in frills and gaudy waist-coats. His chief pleasure lay in startling the world, and Mr. Greenwood had the wit to see the possibilities of his idea as a means of satisfying that instinct. But this episode, the consider not only of our subsequent policy in Exppt, but the first expression of the modern financial Imperialism, has aspects which are both larger and more curious than this. At length they have been thoroughy studied and in a brilliant little volume clerarly world, and Mr. Greenwood had the wit to see died, and in a brilliant little volume, cleverly written and amply documented, M. Charles Lesage has told the whole story in full.* It is an intricate intrigue none too easy to disen-tangle, but it has the fascination of any chapter of human affairs treated by an expert who succeeds in reading the motives of all the persons who engaged in it.

The idea of the Suez Canal had its origin in the vast schemes of colonization and ex-

Second Empire. In 1856 the Emperor proposed to Palmerston a plan for the partition of Africa, which auticipates faithfully the arrangement of spheres of influence which has at last come about to-day. England was to have Egypt France Morocco, and Sardinia the regions round Tripoli. To the Palmerston was violently opposed, and when two years later, the Suez Canal Company was definitely constituted, the Ragland of Cobden and Palmerston was partly sceptical, partly hostile, and wholy unwishing to take any share in financing a scheme which seemed equally chimerical and dangerous. It was only when the Canal was finally completed as a definitely French undertaking that the inconveniences of this abstention began to be felt. English shipping complained of the excessive charges, but M. de Lesseps, serious y embarrassed for funds, was unwilling to reduce his tolls. He had, however, only a weak and defeated France behind him, and in 1873 England and Germany successed in mobilizing their diplomatic resources against him, summoned a conference at Co 1stan i rople which altered the system of assessing the tolls fixed by the Siltan's original charter, and in 1874 overcame his resistance by coe cing him with 10,000 Expetian troops mustered on the bank, of the Canal. From this moment the dea of internationalizing the Canal, or even equiring it for England, seems to have domi nated the imagination of English Imperialists It is characteristic of the two men that while Lord Derby frankly approached the French Ambassador with a suggestion for internation alizing the Canal, Disraeli sent one of th Rothschilds secretly to Paris to propose to M. de Lesseps the purchase of the Caral outright by Eugland. Lord Derby had old-fashioned notions of honour and fair play, and felt some scruple about taking advantage of a defeated riend, while Disraeli knew the power of finance, recognized no claims of chivalry, and went straight to his eads without a thought of ablished over 20 years.

London, W. went straight to his ends without a the the decencies and usages of diplomacy.

These plans failed. The French were rightly proud of their work; they alone bad had taith in it, and they alone had borne the cost; they saw no reason why they should admit us to profits, after it had become, in spite of our abstention, an assured success. It was the necessities of the Khedive I mail which gave Disraeli his chance.

When in October the Turkish Empire itself went bankrupt and repudiated its debts, it seemed as if the crash must come. Pinance asked itself in panie if the vassal woold follow the example of his suz rain; Egyptian londs were quoted at a discount of 20 per cent. the peasantry had been bled to the utmost of their capacity; the Treasury was empty, and nearly four million of short-dated bonds were due for payment in D cember. Ismail, however, had still one resource—the 177,642 Suez Canal shares which the Khedive Said had bequeathed to him.

It was a clever Freuch financier of the second rank, M. E. Dervier, who first con-ceived the idea of acquiring them. On Nov. 11th he proposed to buy them through his brother Audré, who represented him in Egypt; he offered 92 million france, and demanded first 12 and then 8 per cent. upon them to replace their interest, to be guaranteed by the Customs of Port Said. The difficulty was that Ismail demanded the money within ten days, and M. Dervieu was not strong enough to obtain it unaided in Paris. He had in the end to modify his plan to a loan on the se-curity of the shares, and even then he was obliged to ask the aid of the Crédit Foncier. Here he encountered the resolute opposition of much greater financier, who seems to have resented the audacity of a small banker in andertaking so great an enterprise. The appeal to his patriotism left M. de Soubeyran cold. The Crédit Foncier had in its vaults millions of unsaleable Egyptian securities, and it had therefore an interest in preserving the Khedive's credit. To assist him to further recklessness was no part of M. de Sonbeyran's plans; he wished instead to consolidate the Egyptian debt, to annex all Ismail's assets s security, and to forbid bim for the future to contract these rainous short losrs which were his bane. The Crédit Foncier was not estisfied with opposing M. Dervien. It warned its agent in London, who happened to be Mr. Oppenheim, and he conveyed the news of M. Dervica's plans to Mr. Greenwood, and so to Disraeli himself. M. Darvieu, however, had still one resource Convinced of the political importance to France of the purchase of these shares by French capital, he induced M. de Lesseps to go to the Foreign Minister, the Duc Decezes and begged him to intervene with he Crédit Foncier to bring it to a more favourable dis position. Here one touches what was the most human and the most pitiable aspect of the whole transaction. The Duke refused to assist M. Dervieu, because he feared that the intervention of the French Government might be resented by England. Disraeli's coup, in short, vas made possible only by the Duke's delicacy and by his sense of loyalty and obligation. He knew from Lord Derby's hints that our Government was justous of the exclusive French control, and he felt bound to take account of that point of view. Only six months before France had passed through the terrible crisis of Bismarck's second altimatum; she did not forget what she owed to Queen Victoria for her letter on behalf of peace to the old Kaiser, backed as it had been by Lord Derby. M. de Lisseps, however, was pressing the Duc Decases, and he determined at least to sound Lord Derby. He charged his Ambassador to inquire if we would object to the purchase of the shares by French capitalists. On Nov. 20th the question was put; Lord Derby answered that we certainly should object, but he gave no hint that five days before Disraeli had already resolved to buy them for England, and telegraphed to our Consal General to begin nego-

Here lies the central interest of M. Lesage's study. The details of the actual perchase are unimportant. Disraeli had only to offer 100 nillion france against M. Dervieu's ninety-two to obtain the shares at once The further details of the English aspect of the transaction are already sufficiently known - how the Rothschilds advanced the money and made on the transaction a profit which worked out at an annual rate of over 11 per cent., how Disraeli deceived Parliament by pretending that the Rothschilds had bought on their own account, and that Parliament was free to repurchase or not from them as it pleased, how the Cabine: was kept in ignorance of the whole deal, and how Sir Stafford Northe-te opposed it when he knew of it on the ground nat it implied a want of magnanimity to France, and how finally we obtained on the strength of shares which bore no interest a representation on the board of the Canal which the Khedive had not possessed when he owned these shares, a representation from which we were debarsed by the statutes of the company.

Most of the Liberal leaders opposed Disraeli's coup ; many Conservatives of the older chool felt with Sir Stafford Northcote that hay "did not like it." France was bitter and indignant. Only Bismarck was pleased, and languant. Only bismarck was pleased, and the sequel has shown with what good reason. Disrael's sharp stockbroker's trick may have paved the way for the occupation of Egypt; t also inaugurated a whole generation of jealousy and bickering between France and ourselves, helped to throw her into the arms of Russia, broke up the Liberal Party among the European Powers, and enabled Bismarck to plsy upon the division and mistrust which raled henceforward between England and France. We have got the shares, no doubt, and they now bring in an acceptable dividend to, the Exchequer. We have at last won the friendship of France as well. A good deal of the world's history might have made more agreeable reading it Disraeti had had the wisdom to say "No" to Mr. Greenwood, or at least consuited the French Republic before he concluded his deal. ("The Tribune.") the sequel has shown with what good reason.

SITUATION IN EGYPT.

FOREIGN SECRETARY'S STATEMENT.

(Gazette's Special Service.)

LONDON, Friday, Nov. 23.

An important statement was made in the House of Commons last night, which will, it is considered, have an excellent effect in England and on the Continent in removing the mis-apprehensions as to the state of public curity in that country, which have been encouraged by the tactics of a section of extreme Radical Little Englander members of the House of Commons in lending their support Egyptian Nationalist agitators and Mr Wilfrid Blant.

The Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in reply to some questions put by members of Parliament as to the present situation in Egypt, declared that the actual condition of affairs throughout that country was not now of 10,000 france to the Mussulman Benevolent giving any grounds for special anxiety, and there was not the slightest reason for those wishing to visit that country in the course of the winter season being discouraged from putting their intentions into execution.

This reply of Sir Edward Grey will have very satisfactory result, for some timid and ill-informed people have been quite alarmed by the rumours as to the disaffection prevailing in Egypt, which have been fanned by a small group of the Liberal party.

MR. ROBERTSON AND EGYPT.

To the Editor of the "Egyptian Gazette."

Dear Mr. Editor .- With reference to the parsgraph in your issue of the 20th instant on Mr. Robertson's visit to Egypt, I am sure it will come as a great blow to the majority of your readers to learn that this estimable Palace, where he will remain till this evening, gentleman is not coming to Egypt after all. when he goes to Koubbeh. His recent interesting question in Parliament anent our culpable waste of Nile mud shows the profound and intimate knowledge he pos-sesses of Egyptian irrigation, and, one may say, The Silvestre French comedy company will of Egypt generally, and doubtless the Advisers give a performance this evening of Rostand's to the Egyptian Government would have give a performance this evening of the series of the opportunity of conferring which M. NEW NATIONAL POLICY.

There is a widespread belief in native circles in Cairo that the tour of inspection which Mustapha Pasha Fehmy, the Prime Minister, has just undertaken in the Dakahlieh Moudirich, is the first step in the direction of a new national policy, the object of which is to teach the country to accord to the Ministers of the Government the honour and distinction which are due to them.

DEPARTURE FOR CAIRO.

H.H. the Khedive officially left Alexandria

or Cairo for the winter season this morning. Cherif Pasha street was beflagged for the coasion, and the entry to the Moharrem Bey station was decorated with shrubs. In the station yard a battalion of the Egyptian Army, with band and colour, and the Alexandria Fire

The railway arrangements were most efficiently carried out under the personal super-vision of Captain Hall, R.B., Traffic Manager, who accompanied the train to Cairo, as also did the General-Manager of the Egyptian State Railways, Miralai Macaulay Bey, Mr. Travithick, chief mechanical engineer, and Mr. Verschoyle, chief engineer of the Permanent

Kom el Domas,
At all the stations en route the Khedivial train arrived to the minute and all the chief stations were lavishly decorated, while enthusiastic crowds greeted the passage of his Highness with loyal salutations.

ARRIVAL IN CAIRO. (By Telephone).

In anticipation of the Khedive's arrival at Caire, at half-past eleven this morning, the principal buildings on the route from the station to Abdeen Palace had been amply decorated with bunting and flags representing every nationality. More than an hour before the train was due, small crowds of natives began to collect in the streets, and by 11.15 the balco nies of Shepheard's and the Grand Continenta Hotels were crowded with a feshionable assem blage of sightseers. Excellent order was kept by the police, who regulated the traffic well until the Khedivial carriage had passed.

As the Khedivial train drew up at the North arrival platform punctual to the minute the bands of the Lancashire Fusiliers, and Egyp-tian Cavalry and Infantry played the Khedivial Hymn, at the conclusion of which his High-ness made his exit, shaking hands with the distinguished personages who had come to greet

RAMLEH RAILWAY.

The question of prolonging the Ramleh railway line from the present city terminus to a point in Mchamed Aly-square has now been under the consideration of the Alexandria Municipality for two years past, and there is every likelihood of the project still remaining under the municipal consideration. The diffioalty is that no hing has been decided definite ly as to the great boulevard that is to extend along the quay. When this question is settled the Railway Company will be allowed to lay its lines along this thoroughfare and to remove the terminus from its present position to the square. This will be a great all the inhabitants of Ramleh. This will be a great convenience to

The present line of tramway along the Ramleh Boulevard will continue as at present. The goods services will have its headquarters at the existing terminus, as is now the case.

ALEXANDRIA TRAMWAY CO.

The Alexandria Tramway Company intend to considerably increase their electric power station in the Karmous quarter of Alexandria The extension will consist of a completely nev installation of a steam turbine engine of about 2,000 H. P. A continuous current dynamo of a corresponding size, and four new tubular boilers, which have already arrived, will be erected there shortly.

The company intend to extend their service along the new quay from the Rue Champollion, near the General Post Office, to Fort Kaid Bey as soon as the necessary authorisatio has been obtained from the Alexandria Municipality.

The Municipality, judging from the time it takes to consider new schemes, is very much Public Works Ministry.

JANE HADING IN CAIRO.

"LA CHATELAINE."

(FROM OUR THEATRICAL CORRESPONDENT.) "La Châtelaine" is hardly an essy play to judge at first sight, or in a theatre where the accounties are bad. I had never seen or read it and, being in the eighth row of the stalls, I could not hear half that was said. It is certainly a complete change from Domas; it is natural, witty, worldly, turning on the question of divorce, and an intrigue, or rather sustained effort, to marry Lucienne, the "jeune fille" in the piece, to Néray instead of Jossan. There is no very startling passion, crime, sentiment at its greater depths ; it is just the story for th obatesa where it takes place. The people, well-born, interesting, and amosing, have in their lives just what supplies a special emotion now and again, and always an interest separate from more common-place existences. Mme Hading, of course, has the exact note, as the perfect comédienne mondaine et aristocrate and though, as I have said, the play is too natural to move an audience profoundly, too well written and interesting, too near the lives of many of us perhaps, to rouse greater emo tions, yet her presence on the stage was, so to express it, the play and the whole play, a keen pleasure to watch; and the moment she was off the stage the life seemed to leave it. This sounds hard on the other actors; and I do not mean that the play lost interest, but the vitality that held us ebbed and flowed with her absence or presence. Mms. Florian and M. Garat as the de Morènes were certainly excellent, characteristic, amusing, if a triffe forced at moments. Lucienne (Mile. Mac-Leane) was very charming. M. Arnaud again was the thorough 'homme du monde" as we have already seen him. I except from the "loss of vitality" charge his talk with Gaston de River on duelling. He had some delightful things to say, and he said them admirably, giving the exact value to every point : "Je n'ai, pour ainsi dire, jamais été tué !"-mos clever of many clever sayings! He marked them all without over-emphasizing any. It is certainly a play to see and to read more than once for its quiet wit and truth, and (can one use the phrase ?) perfect breeding. I apo logise for the word, but English is not the bes of tongues for criticism of drams. One has to take what one can get,

"Sapho" is surely the greatest impersonation Jane Hading has given so far. Such a change is it, such a totally different side of life ! all know the tale, the attraction at first sight of the young man and the girl "qui se cramponne." She has lived with a poet, a sculptor, a forger, the father of her child, and now she finds the real love with her student. Jane Hading is Sapho alive and actual, no longer repentant or injured, and provincial aristocrat. but simply the daughter of her disreputable coachman father, rising from that level by contact with so many celebrities, but returning to it in the moments of greater emotion. And what moments those were! The burning of the letters, that farewell in the third act ah ! one more minute of that voice, and how slower in arriving at a decision than the much self-control would we have kept? And the last of all farewells, when she never spoke, but every look was a word, an appeal, an expectation! And the other side, as loving expectation I and the other side, as loving menagere, debraillée, in her attitude at the piano. We know "Voi che sapete." Cherubin comes forward after due preparation, sings the exquisite song,—his one chance in an exquisite opera. But how often do we see and hear her version, her voice asking ourelves what we know of our own hearts, so direct, sweet, poignant? So might some one ask to whom love is all life and not a mere incident for applause from a cultivated mesical audience. Agair, her "engeulade" was a miracle, indescribable; but then the whole performance was that. What was she going to say next, to look next, and why could not each instant live for hours?

The other artistes were far better than usual. All seemed to have woken up. Mr. Arnaud, we must say, was in a sense colipsed : for once he was (the part is hard and lends itself to this) over-emphasized. Perhaps De-chelette was the best, though the orucial moment, the death of his Alice Doré, brought out a certain theatricalism. It may be right and intentional, but it might have been more reserved, and so, far more striking. Caoudal (Mr. Grammont) was excellent: the Hetlemas, Irené, Sanchez, Papa Legrand, were all that one wished and expected. In fact, it was a triumph with scarcely a wrong note any-where—a great fantasia debrailée—again the word; I find no translation for it—and with that deep note of love passing, weaving its signed by two cadre employés of the Govern-way throughout. Incidentally we are the mont in receipt of L.E. 10 per measem or way throughout. Incidentally we are the richer for the word "quitterie"—better than separation, or divorce, or forgetting,—a great word worthy of the great play, and the far greater impersonation that has made it a iving experience and perhaps a lasting memory for those who heard it.

seats, and especially the Press seat, twice Administration in which the candidate was over! 'Et à la première venue pardessus employed in the cadre. 28877-1 le marché!' And why is it that in every Egyptian theatre the performance must be a descant to ground-bars of gusts of coughing, and trampling of innumerable-recruits-in corridors! Oh for immoveable seats, even chairs, to prevent listeners (*ic!) fr m moving and shufflling; and even chlorof mm would be welcome if the constant misulace I the oat noise La hausse du Crédit Franco Egyptien serait strange and obscene, cou'd thereby be quelled, enabling a luckless but fascinated listener a back row to hear what the actors say.

Sometimes I fancied a meal, but when food was placed before me I could not touch it. I passed s'espless nights, and each morning I was so tired. My eyes grew dull and ached incessantly, and dark rings formed beneath them. My lips were pale, and the lobes of my cars were transparent. The least exertion exhausted me. If I went upstairs I had to oling to the banisters for support. After a short walk I would be overcome with breathlessness and violent palpitation. Everything would grow dim before by eyes, and throbbing pains attacked my head; I would have to rest for an hour before I was fit to move again. I was also troubled with bezzing noises in my ears, and was a martyr to splitting headaches. All the day I hung about languid and weary, with no life in me. I grew dreadfully thin. JOINT SYSTÈME BUHNE pour manchons de tuyaux d'eau et de gaz.

Manchon d'un tuyau de 300 mm de diamètre rendu étanche par la laine de plomb Buhne et so à une pression de 20 Atmosphères.

Jusqu'à présent on assemblait les manchons de tuyaux en y introduisant tout d'abord une tresse de banvre et en coulast du plomb dans la partie restée vide, puis on mats le plomb coulé.

Notre nouveau système de raccord étanche se comporte tout autrement. Nous employons au lieu de plomb ondu la laine du plomb brévotée en tresses de 1 m. de longueur et pesant 4, § ou 1 kilog, suivant les manchons, te procédons comme auit:

iondu la laine du plomb brévetée en tresses de l m. de longueur et pesant ½, ½ ou l kilog, suivant les manchoms, et procédons comme suit et procédons comme suit et procédons pare avoir tout d'abord introduit et comprimé la tresse de chanvre, on prend une tresse de laine de plomb ou une partie seulement de la tresse, selon la force du joint, on l'enroule autour du tuyau et on la matte fortement dans le manchon; on répéte l'opération jusqu'à ce que le manchon soit complétement plein et bien maté. Par le fait que le matage commence déjà au fond du manchon c. a. d. directement sur la tresse de chanvre, la laine de plomb se transforme en une masse homogène, au moyen de laquel en réalise non seulement une étanchétié parfaite, mais encore résistance beaucoup plus considérable qu'auparavant.

Des casais de notre nouveau système de raccordement étanche ont été faits non seulement dans nos unines, mais aussi en beaucoup de villes qui en font l'étude à différents points de vue. Ainsi nous avons réalisé des joints de tuyaux de 300 et 450 mm de diamètre d'après notre procédé : soumis ces joints pendant des semaines à une pression constante de 20 atmosphères sans que le raccord cédât. On réunit également bout à semaines à une pression constante de 20 atmosphères sans que le raccord cédât. On réunit également bout à bout 4 tuyaux de 100 mm de diamètre d'après notre procédé ; on plaça les deux extrémités sur deux supports de telle sorte que la partie intermédiaire ne fut pas soutenue. On ne constata ainsi aucune flexion. Par contre une essai analogue avec des joints en plomb fondu accusa une flexion considérable.

essai analogue avec des joints en piomb iondu accusa une nezion considerante.

Il est ainsi démontré qu'auxe notre procédé on obtient un joint bien étanche et une résistance mécanique i plus grande qu'autre/pois.

Notre nouveau procédé de raccordement étanche offre en outre l'immense avantage de permettre de vailler par tous les tempe et sans nécessiter la mise à sec des manchons.

Outre ces énormes avantages techniques, notre procédé présente vis-à via des ancient procédés encore d'autres.

L'appareil encombrant pour le coulage du plomb est supprimé, et avec lui tout le combustible tel que bois et ; la perte de plomb à la coule est étilée, on supprime de même le sable, la main d'œuvre de moulage des têtes anchons et la main d'œuvre de coulage.

mancione et la main a celière de contage. Dans notre procédé il ne faut plus que des mateurs. Il s'ensuit que notre méthode rend le travail plus économique que l'ancien procédé, sans parier des London, November 15.

The command of the 2nd Battalion Leices tershire Regiment, which recently arrived at Belgaum from England, has just changed hands, Brevet Colonel E.R. Scott, whose tenure had expired, having been replaced by Lieutenant Colonel V. T. Bonbury, D.S.O., from second in command. The new chief of battalion has served since 1579 in the Royal Sussex Regiment, the Buffs and Leices ters. He was employed with the Egyptian Army, 1895-1901, and has seen service in various lands, including the Burmese Expedi-1889 (medal with clasp); Dongols Expedition, 1895 (mentioned in despatches, medal with two clasps) ; and the Nile Expeditions of 1897 98-99, including the battle Khartoum (mentioned in despatches, D.S.O.,

Lieutenant E. A. FitzGerald, the senior subaltern of the 5th Dragoon Guards, Blomfontein, O. R. C., has been transferred to the 6th Inniskilling Dragoons, Cairo, and promoted captain. Captain FitzGerald joined the 'Green pour adopter celui-oi, qui simplifiera tontes Horse' in July, 1900, from the ranks of the les opérations. Imperial Yeomanry at the front. He saw considerable service with the Yeomanty in the South African War, 1899 1900 (Queen's medal with two clasps).

Second Lieutenant J. E. P. Howey, Dorset-Yeomanry, have been selected for attachment to the 6th Ioniskilling Dragoons, Cairo, for where they will leave England at an early date.

It is understood that the Army Council is re-considering their disbandment schemes. The 53rd Company R. G. A., which is on the way home from St. Helens, is not to be disbanded on arrival. This company, which has served in almost every quarter of the globe, dates from 1705. The disbandment of such an ancient unit, apart from any other standpoint, would have been a downright scandal.

Owing to the large number of men of the Irish Guards who have been permitted to convert their service on transfer to the Army Reserve, this unit has now nearly reached its reduced establishment, and it is therefore notified that every endeavour should be made to obtain recruits, at the increased standard of height, laid down in Army Order 188 of 1906'. in view of the necessity of meeting the ordinary wastage and keeping the unit up to establish Captain the Honourable Robert F. He was middy on the Minotaur during the Egyptian War, 1882 (medal and Khedive's star); and served in the Naval Brigade in the Gambia Expedition, 1894, in which he was dangerously wounded (mentioned in despatches, medal with clasp).

Monsieur le Directeur de "l'Egyptisn Gszatte" L'accueil favorable de plusieurs journaux propéens et indigènes qui avaient bien voulu reproduire un de mes premiers articles con-cernant certaines effaires de bourse, - article qui méritait une attention plus sérieuse de la part du public, appuyé qu'il était par le témoignage de gens éclairés, mais que la villégiature de la plurart des membres du comité, alors absents, a pour ainsi dire rejeté dans l'ombre, -m'encourage à remettre la question à l'ordre

J'avais autrefois suggéré l'idée de convertir la fraction actuelle de 1/32 de tallari en 1/40 de tallari, ce qui réduirait le point à 20 paras au lieu de 25, fraction qui serait une, non double et triple.

Le calcul devient alors des plus simple Prenons comme exemple la fraction de 13/16 et 1/82; en ajoutant 1/32, nous aurons 14/16 ou 7/8, soit 17 1/2 Piastres Tarif, d'après l'ancien système.

Avec le nouveau système, nous aurons 35/40, soit une seule fraction, susceptible de remplacer toutes les fractions avjourd hui en

J'ai tout lieu d'espérer que les membres du comité renonceront à l'ancien système

Il prefite de cette occasion, pour élucider un autre point d'une grande importance pour la spéculation locsle et la prospérité du pays ; il s'agirait d'obliger les Egyptiens, spécula-teurs en coton Egyptien et Américain, à ne spéculer qu'en coton Egyptien. Que quelqu'un shire Imperial Yeomanry; and Second Lieute-soit partisan de la hausse ou de la baisse, nant J. Whitworth, Royal lat Deven Imperial qu'il achè e su vende des contrats de coton Egyptien, qu'il gagne ou perde, les fonds restent aines dans le pays; tandis qu'en tra-vaillant avec l'étranger, s'il perd, c'est de l'argent qui sort de l'Egypte. Malheureusement, c'est le cas qui se reproduit chaque année ; ces derniers jours encore l'Amérique et l'Angleterre nous arrachaient par leurs spéculations 1.000.000 de L.St.

On me dira que l'on achète le coton Américain, parce qu'il est meilleur marché. L'Egyptien est cher, il est vrai, mais il est de qualité supérieure. Malgré ses prix très bas, 'Américain qui était au prix de 11 Tal. baissé encore de 2 Tal. tandis que l'Egyptien n'a perdu qu'un seul Tallari.

Nous avons de tiès grands avantages à tra vailler exclusivement en coton Egyptien. Les moindres fluctuations nous sont connues et nous sommes toujours en mesure de liquider notre position de suite et sans aucune diffion'té. li n'en est pas de même pour le coton Américain, qui nous coûte des frais, sans compter que les oscillations des prix à l'arrivage des dépêctes nous ménagent souvent de désagréables surprises.

Voilà les avantages que nous offre le coton Egyptien. J'espère que tous les membres de comité m'approuveront. Je n'ai qu'un seul but le bien général et la prospérité du pays.

Jos. ZACCAR. Alexandrie, le 23 Novembre.

SPORT AND PLAY.

SPORT AT SUEZ.

During Beyram Sucz was once again favoured by a visit from a Cairo team organized by Moberley Bey. The original programme cricket, football (Association and Rugby), hockey, tennis, golf, billiards, and bridge. Unfortunately Suez was unable to raise a "Rugger" team at the last moment owing to illness combined with the fact that several of their team were suddenly called away.

CRICKET.

The first event, cricket, played on Friday, resulted in a win for the visitors. Chiefly owing to some sound batting by Rivers-Smith and Moberley and the excellent bowling of Wyatt, Cairo gained an easy victory by 122 runs. For the home team Ekins bowled well. Scores: —

REVUE COMMERCIALE

Cotons

A la suite de la ces-ation d'affaires que nous avons eue samedi à l'occasion des fê es du Baïram, la semaine commerciale n'a commencé pour cette fois que lundi, ce qui n'est pas à regretter avec les dispositions peu brillantes qui existaient sur notre marché

Dans tous les car, et comme début, c'est la faiblesse en plein qui a régné chez nous pen dant toute la journée, en dépit des nouvelles de Liverpool, et qui a été pour ainsi dire en-couragée par l'état du disponible qui a été extrardinairement calme ce jour-là. Toutefois vers la fin de la séance du soir, du persistance de la hausse sur l'Américain a pu produire un petit revirement et la clô:ure a eu lieu céfinitivement en reprise et avec une meilleure rendance par la suite.

En effet, le ler demain la tenue a été dans l'ensemble plus ferme, avec une avance de 1/8 dans la cote, mais la journée de mercredi a montré beaucoup d'hésitation, les cours étant retombés de nouveau au minimum précédemment pratiqué de 17 15/16 pour le Mars. Le dernier prix cependant affiché dans l'après-midi a été égal à celui de la veille.

Hier, sur la hausse de 26 points à New-York et de 33 points à New Orleans et qui était motivée par le Census Bureau, nous avons su un bond de 3/16, qui ne s'est pas maintenu longtemps et qui a fiui par disparattre en ièrement, quand l'ouverture d'Amérique est venue nous pronver qu'après la première impression, à l'instar de ce qui s'était passé quirze jonrs auportée, les chiffres du dit rapport étaient discutés et mis en doute.

Cette idée a reçu une certaine confirmation par la reculade de 19 points que l'Amérique nous a approuvé en clôture ce matin; mais, malgré tout, la si éculation a cru devoir passer outre à ce qui n'était pas de son goût et de nouveau elle a tenté de soutenir les cours, avec un succès partiel après plusieurs hauts et bas, mais qui n'eu est pas moins réel, car, comme résumé fiual pour la semaine, c'est à 1/22 près, au même niveau que vendredi dernier que la cote a été établie.

L'Amérique ayant monté dans ce même intervelle, le résultat obtenu, pris is slément à ce point de vue, n'est guère merveilleux, mais après ce à quoi on s'attendait et prenant en considération la disproportion existante entre nos prix et ceux de l'Américain, les détenteurs ntrats peuvent s'eu déclarer satisfaits.

Scalement, ce qu'on ne saurait contester, c'est que des efforts inouis sont faits pont maintenir les cours et que la spéculation cairo ta est surchargée de marchandise tout auss bien que la petite spéculation de notre place, et que ce fait constitue une menace pour no re marché, sauf toujours bien entendu le cas d'un appui nons venant de l'Amérique. On est trop fasciné chez nous par la question des exporta tions, de la plus haute importance surement, mais qui ne suffit pas à éliminer toutes les autres causes pouvant militer dans le sens inverse. Il vaudrait pourtant bien mieux faire entrer tout en ligne de compte, ne fût ce que pour se garer contre tonte surprise désagréable. En d'autres termes, ne tirons pas trop la corde pour ne pas gâter une situation qui nous est propice, mais qui a besoin d'être ménagée.

On dit que le commerce d'exportation été pluiôt vendeur qu'acheteur perdant le semaine. Bien malin sersit celui qui ponnait affirmer la réalité, mais apparemment, cela dort être le cae, étant donné que les nouvelles affaires pour le dehors sont insignifiantes e que les cours du disponible offrent la marge vonlue aux opérations d'arbitrage ou tout a moins un avantage réel à l'exportateur pour remplacer les contrats qu'il décient en couver tore de ses engagements par de la marchandise cependant pas de ventes térieuses à signaler pour l'Europe.

Ceci dit sans trop y insister, passons à la nonvelle récolte, soit Novembre 1907. Tonte proportion gardée, l'activité sur cette échéance a été plus satisfaisante ou pour le moins la

Le rapport du Census Boreau donnant l'égrenage au 15 novembre comme étant de 8.531,000 balles, contre 7,498,000, a fait prêcher la hausse par presque toutes les maisons d'Amérique ayant des relations avec notre place; anjourd'hui, pourtant, il n'y a plus d'unanimité d'opinion et d'aucuns affirment que le dit rapport va être l'objet d'une révision. Tout est possible, mais ce qui n'en est pas moins vrai est que, sauf catte révision, les chiffres énoncés par le Bureau de Statistique indiqueraient une récolte de 12.250.000 à 12 500.000 balles, récolte qui serait insuffisante, ou à peine suffi-ante, aux besoins de la consommation si réellement, comme on le dit, il y aurait lieu à une défalcation de 5 à 600,000 balles de qualité inutilisable par la filature.

Chez nons, le mouvement de la récolte, soit pius exactement les recettes ont subi une certaine diminution, mais cela tient uniquement aux dispositions que preud l'Administration des chemins de fer pour les périodes fériées, en vue d'éviter les encombrements dans notre gare. Il ne s'agit donc que d'une chose transitoire et sans importance

Co qui ne s'est pas ralenti par contre, ca sont les exportations qui ont fini par dépasser les prévisions en atteignant le total de 31.800 balles, contre 27.000 balles en 1905 pour la semaine correspondante.

La semaine prochaine promet aussi d'être satisfairante; elle pourrait néanmoins rester inférieure au total de 31.000 balles environ de l'année dernière, à cause de la question des suspens qui se règient d'office le dernier jour da mois et qui, pour cette fois, tombe précisément le leudemain de la date à laquelle le relevé hebdomadaire sera fait!

L'Angleterre vient toujours bonne première avec ses retraits de 34.000 balles supérieurs à 1905, tandis que le continent n'a qu'une avance de 10,000 balles, contre 8 000 balles de moins pour l'amérique. Le tout en bloc présente une balance de 26.000 balles en faveur de la saison actuelle, mais si nous prenons toute la position statistique du coton égyptien, il y aurait lieu peut-être de faire un peu la mone : le stock d'ici est de 181.000 cantars plus fort qu'en 1:05 à cette même date, le stock de Liverpool est plus gres que celui de l'année passée, ce qui laisserait supposer que tout ce qui va en l'Angleterre n'est pas encore, vendu à la filature, l'andis que le fibitant est de 13.000 balles supérieur. Tout cela nous fait une visible supply de 320.000 cantars de plus qu'en 1905, avec une perspective de recevoir encore de l'intérieur 500.0 0 autres cantars de plusque l'année dernière. Cela compte pour que que chose. Le marché du disponible a manqué d'en vergure, mais quand mê ne il peut être consi téré comme ayant été assi z actif.

Quant aux prix, la cote officielle ne nons montre aucune d fférence sur vendredi passé, ni pour le Mit-affifi, ni pour les provenances Haute Egypte, à l'exception du Fully good fair et du Good ; ce dernier genre est en anese de 1/8. Les Abassi et ont par contre avancé d'une feçon rapide, soit de 5/8 pour les premiers et de 1 1/4 tal-lari pour les derniers. On monte trop vite et on est à un niveau as ez extravagant pour le Joannovich pour continuer à mettre en doute l'existence d'un découvert, affirmé du reste par les concurrents des malheureux ven dants en blanc.

Le marché de Liverpool a été quelque peu sorprenant pour ce qui regarde les égyptiens disponibles sous le rapport des ventes : nous avons eu de 100 à 1000 Balles par jour, en passant pre que par toutes les gradations, ce qui indiquerait qu'il y a en probablement que'que demande étrangère, vite satisfaite.

Comme prix, le spot est inchangé à 9 3/8, et le Novembre ne perd que 1/64 à la cote de L'américain a été moins actif, mais la cote du jour nous montre une hausse de 14 points sur le spot à 5.99 et de 7 points sur les futurs tenue en a été plus régulière que cela n'a qui sont à 5.61 pour le Janvier-Février et à été le cas pour la récolte actuelle. Il n'y a 5.67 pour le Mai-Juin.

mme pour les cotons, il y a su ralentissement dans les arrivages en graines, mais en somme les besoins courants ont été amplement couverts.

Pour ce qui est des prix, il y a hausse, tant à cause de la demande, que de l'amélioration des contrats. Le dernier prix pratiqué est de P.T. 68. Les exportations sont fortes et pro nettent de continuer à être importantes, non seulement pour le restant de Novembre, mais ussi pour Décembre. Comme nous l'avons dit il y a des besoins en Burope et avant Janvier les autres graines oléagineuses et la graine de coton de Bombay ne peuvent pas nous entraver dans l'alimentation de la consommation. La cote de Hall est de £6.16/3d.

En contrats, il y a eu un peu plus d'entrain et quo que nous ayons réactionné un peu, le cours reste à P.T. 70 1/4 pour le Février-Mars. L'annonce du sauvetage du vapeur Coronation avec 6000 T poor Hull et qu'on disait perdu à Malte, a calmé un peu les esprits.

Ajontons de plus que le découvert su Novembre a dû poyer 20/40 au-desaus de cours du Février-Mars pour se racheter.

CHRONIQUE FINANCIERE

A'exandrie, le 23 Novembre.

Il y a dans la tension monétaire une détente évidente révélée par l'attitude des banques et la réduction momentanée du taux d'escompte en Angleterre. C'est ce qui explique, avec l'excellente tenue des cotons, l'animation extra ordinaire qui a dominé dans notre corl eille des valeurs, au lendemain des fêtes du Baïram. Dapnis la rentrée des capitalistes, en effet, la semaine qui vient de s'écouler, a certainement été la plus remarquable sons tous les rapports bien qu'elle ne comprenne que quatre jours, la bourse étant restée fermée samedi et lundi.

sur les Delta Land, Estates, Investment, Nungovich Hotels, Ordinary Khedivial Mail. Urbaine, Comptoir et Crédit Franco Egyptien. Mais la hausse est presque générale. Sur une cicquantaine de valeurs inscrites à la cote officielle 27 sont en hausse, 7 seulement en baisse et les autres demeurent stationnaires.

Les transactions ont porté principalement

Parmi les fluctuations les plus remarquables il nous fant signaler les Nungevich Hotels qui gagnent 1 livre 3/4 à 20 3/8, la Nile Land 3/4 18 1/8 et les parte de fondateur Comptoir 7 livres à 62, par suite de leur fractionnement en dixièmes, ce qui les rend d'un maniement plus facile. La hausse est proportionnellement aussi importante sur la Delta Land qui gagne 11/32 à 4 13/16, l'Investment 5/32 à 1 11/16, l'Urbaine 9/32 à 7 3/16, le Comptoir 1/4 à 1 3/16, les Splendid Hotels 1/4 à 4 7/16, et le Crédit Franco-Egyptien 1/4 à 5 13/16. En avance notable également les Tramways qui hénéficient de 4 fc. à 197 les Privilégiées et de 5 fr. à 355 les Dividendes, les Jouissances Baux du Caire de 4 fr. à 274, la Daïra et le Béhéra de 1/4 à 17 1/18 et 44, les Markets de 1 sb. 6 pence à 28/9, la Cassa di Sconto de 3 fr. 10 à 247 1/2 l'ancienne et de 4 fr. 10 à 242 1/2 la nouvelle et l'Anglo-American Nile de 1/8 à 6 1/16. La National Bank gagne 1/8 à 27 3/8, la Filature 1/32 à 7/8, la dende Bière d'Alexandrie 2 fr. à 122 la Bière du Caire 1 et 2 fr. à 134 la Privilégiés et 74 la Dividende, la Khedivial Mail 1/16 à 4 13/16. s'inscrivent à 2 3/8 acheteurs.

Tout le reste de la cote officielle demeure ans changement.

Les émissions de nouvelles sociétés ommencer en décembre. Celle des Ritz Hotels aura vraisemblablement lieu la première, puisqu'elle est fixée au 4 de ce mois. Soivront celle de l'United Egyptian Lands le 10, et celle de la Sidi Salem, dont la date n'est pas encore fixée. En attendant, ces nouvelles valeurs obtiennent déjà des primes importantes sur le marché. Les Ritz Hotels ont fait oe matin jasqa'a 1 9/16 pour revenir en clôture à 1 15/32 acheteurs ; les Sidi Salem ont é: é traités à 4 15/16 5 l'action et 8 1/2 la part de fondateur. D'autres valeurs, qui dormaient depuis longtemps dans les portefeuilles, ont reparu avec un regain de jeunesse. De ce ombre se trouvent l'Egypt & Levant qui a été ramassée ce matin à 13/32, l'Aboukir Land qui a été traitée à 47 shellings, soit 15 shellings de prime, les Wardan Estate qui ont atteint 9 1/8 l'action et 10 livres la part de fonda-L'émission des Ritz Hotels est annoncée pour le 4 décembre prochain. Les prospectus seront distribués lundi, ou, en tous ces, dans le courant de la semaine prochaine.

La Compagnie d'Aboukir (Limited) a décidé de réduire la valeur nominale de toutes ses actions de £5 à £1, et de faire une émission de 131.870 nouvelles actions de £1 à 12s. 6d. de prime par action. Le capital de la Compagnie sera alors de £300,000. Les action paires actuels prepnent 100,000 des nouvelles actions à £1.12.6, et la Compagnie offre 10,000 actions à la même prime aux membres des Bourses de Londres, Alexandrie et le Caire. La Compagnie tachera d'obtenir que ces actions pier t cotées officiellement sur ces Bourses. L'émission de 131,870 actions à la prime susmentionnée suffira pour le boui payable ordinaires se d'actions Statuts de la Compagnie, pour rembourser les obligations, (environ £100,000) et donnera nn surplus d'environ £30 000. Le Capital sera de £300.000 en actions de £1 toutes d'égale valeur, sans préférence, et il n'y aura

Selon le dernier bilan, (du 31 Décembre 1905), la Compagnie avait à encaisser environ £180.000 sur des ventes de terrains déjà effectué 34 p r amortissements, et de cette somme £100.000 peuvent servir au paiement de dividendes, la somme de £50,000 qui reste étant plus que suffisante pour achever le défrichement des terrains d'Aboukir. La Compagnie possède encore 11000 feddans de terres sur la propriété d'Aboukir, et 1000 feddans dans une propriété de la province de Gharbieh, soit 12000 feddans en tout.

Les formules de demande pour les action seront prêtes dans que ques jours, et les 10 000 actions désignées pour la Bourse d'Alexandrie seront partagées entre les membres qui er font la demande : 2s. 6d par action sont paya bles à la souscription, 123. 6d. à la répartition, et 17s. 6d. à la distribution des actions au porteur, qui seront préparées aussitôt que possible, disons environ fin Janvier.

Sous le nom de United Egyptian Lands il vient de se former une nouvelle société au capi-tal de £500,000, divisé en 498,750 actions de £1 chaque, et 25,000 parts de fondateur de 1 shelling. Les actions ont droit à un dividende préférentiel de 7 pour cent, et le surplus revient à raison de 60% aux actions et de 40% aux parts de fondateur. La Société a pour but principal l'achat et la revente de terrains, après leur amélioration. Elle a acquis d'un syndicat le droit d'acheter une propriété de 4793 feddans, situés à quelques milles au sud d'Alexandrie et reliés par une ligne de tramways au réseau de la Delta Light Railways.
